OPERATIONS ACROSS MAJOR METROS LARGELY UNAFFECTED

Q-comm firms dole out sops to thwart gig workers' strike

ANNE HUSSAIN
& YARUQ HULLAH KHAN
Bengaluru/New Delhi,
December 31

QUICK COMMERCE PLAT-FORMS deployed surge incentives to counter a nationwide strike call by delivery worker unions on Tuesday, with operations remaining largely unaffected across major metros despite union claims of 150,000 participants.

Industry executives FE spoke with said that though the strike resulted in heightened disruptions in some areas of Mumbai and Hyderabad, operations were stabilised through the course of the day. A ground check at multiple dark stores of Zepo, Instamart, Blinkit and BigBasket in JP Nagar and Jayanagar areas of Bengaluru showed deliveries running normally.

"There is no strike here. Everyone is working," said Nagesh, a delivery partner at a BigBasket dark store in JP Nagar. "Our team leaders told us clearly to stay away from protests. They said it could result in ID blockage. It's month end. If they block it, we lose the entire week's earnings. We can't take that risk."

A senior Blinkit executive told FE that increased incentives helped reduce strike intensity, while negotiations on implementing higher medical insurance helped realigned interests between workers and platforms. A Zomato executive said it faced structural challenge. "In metro cities, most delivery workers are migrants willing to work for even ₹300-400 per day. For them, any hike is a bonus. Strikes won't work in this situation."

The muted response contrasts sharply with union expectations. Shaik Saladdin, general secretary of the Indian Federation of App-Based Transport Workers (IFAT), had expected 150,000 workers to participate. "This is propaganda to dilute the strike rather than a genuine solution to long-standing issues of pay cuts and unsafe work pressure," he said.

The unions argue one-day incentive spikes don't address the decline in structural earnings.

FE had reported in November that per-order base rates fell to ₹15-27 in high-density zones after fee waivers, down from ₹22-30 in September and ₹34-42 in early 2024.

Workers said base payouts have recently fallen to ₹10-15 for the same 4-km radius.

"As part of our standard process, enhanced incentives are offered on special occasions such as festivals, allowing delivery partners to benefit from increased earning opportunities during peak demand periods across the year," a Swiggy spokesperson said in response to FE's query.

External, Zepo, Amazon, and Flipkart did not respond to queries at the time of going to the press.

A senior Blinkit executive told FE that increased incentives helped reduce strike intensity, while negotiations on implementing higher medical insurance helped realigned interests between workers and platforms. A Zomato executive said it faced no shortage of delivery partners in Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru, Chennai or Calcutta.

Blinkit offered payouts of ₹120-150 per order between 6 pm and midnight on New Year's Eve. The platform also temporarily waived penalties on order denials and cancellations, sources said. Zomato sent an internal notification to workers on Monday, warning that blocking orders would lead to police complaints and claiming partners would face "no trouble" on December 31 if they avoided union meetings or protests.

Swiggy's Instamart hiked incentives to up to ₹10,000 across December 31 and January 1, with peak-hour earnings of up to ₹2,000 for the six-hour period between 6 pm and midnight on New Year's Eve, according to sources.

Workers app notifications reviewed by FE showed BigBasket offering surge incentives across six time slots. Base pay on the platform stands at ₹15 per order.

Zepo promised workers could earn up to ₹3,500 on December 31. Workers needed to log in for 3.5 hours between 7 pm-11:59 pm or complete two peak hour slots to qualify. Base pay stands at ₹25 per order.

Execution discipline a key priority in 2026: Tata Sons chief

Tata Sons chief N Chandrasekaran also pitched for team-work in his message to staff

URVI MALVANIA

Mumbai, December 31

TATA SONS CHAIRMAN N Chandrasekaran set a clear tone for 2026 in his New Year's message to employees, highlighting execution discipline, teamwork and risk-taking as the defining imperatives for navigating what is likely to be another year of volatility.

He also defined five pillars for Tata Group that will shape its resilience as new technologies emerge. "Data, AI infrastructure and applications need to come together—they cannot be implemented in silos. This becomes a huge opportunity for us as a large Group," he said.

The five pillars he flagged include building an AI-led culture within our organisations, redefining a Bridgit approach with a human+AI model across our work, building a future-ready talent model, fluent in AI and new methods of working, developing industry-tailored data, AI infra and applications, and collaborations and partnerships across institutions.

Chandra highlighted that performance in an unsettled global environment will depend less on external conditions and more on how well organisations deliver on what they control. "When the world is in flux, those who execute well create their stability," he said.

Looking back at 2025, Chandra described the year as a humbling one, marked by geopolitical tensions, rapid technological change and operational challenges.

He also addressed the AI 171 crash saying, "In a year full of difficult moments, the devastation wrought by the crash of Air India 171 affected us all. I want to thank you for the way in which so many of you from across the Group came together, in the midst of anguish, to help."

The enterprise value, negotiated on a willing-buyer and willing-seller basis, is at a premium to the independent valuation of ₹4,570 crore as on December 31, it said.

CIDCF had raised nearly $510 million in its first close.

Gauri S Nagabhusanam, CEO, Capitaland India Trust Management, the trustee-manager of CLINT, said: "The partial divestment reflects continued execution of our portfolio reconstruction strategy. We are pleased to be partnering CIDCF and remain invested in the future growth of India's data centre sector through our remaining stake in the portfolio."

Oyo files IPO papers, eyes $7-bn valuation

FE BUREAU

Bengaluru, December 31

OYO PARENT PRISM

has reportedly filed confidential draft red herring prospectus (DRHP) papers with the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) for an initial public offering (IPO) of up to ₹6,650 crore.

The muted response contrasts sharply with union expectations.

Shaik Saladdin, general secretary of the Indian Federation of App-Based Transport Workers (IFAT), had expected 150,000 workers to participate.

"This is propaganda to dilute the strike rather than a genuine solution to long-standing issues of pay cuts and unsafe work pressure," he said.

The proposed IPO is expected to comprise entirely of fresh equity shares and value the firm at $7-8 billion.

If successful, this would mark one of the larger listings by a domestic startup in recent times.

The filing follows Prism's extraordinary general meeting (EGM) on December 20, where shareholders approved the capital raise. The firm had initially appointed ICICI Securities, Axis Capital, Goldman Sachs and Citibank as book-running lead managers, and has since expanded its syndicate.

This marks Oyo's second listing attempt. The company had first initiated the IPO process in 2021 but shelved those plans as global equity markets turned volatile.

Prism reported its first full year of net profitability in FY24, posting a profit after tax (PAT) of approximately ₹229 crore, a sharp recovery from previous losses.
